LET'S DO LAURENTIAN PROUD

by Mike Hill
Lambda Sportswriter

This weekend, the focus of attention is on Laurentian University. The reason is the C.I.A.U. Women's National Basketball championships. The top eight basketball teams in the country will be here to compete for the national title. And with this prestigious event comes massive coverage by both types of media, print and electronic. Our guests will come from as far as Victoria, British Columbia in the west, and as far as Prince Edward Island in the east.

It has taken years for Laurentian Lady Vees' coach Peter Ennis and others to get the nod from the C.I.A.U. to allow Laurentian to host the national championships. In his sparkling ten year career as Laurentian Women's basketball coach, Ennis has coached his team to the nationals every single year. In fact, this will be the Lady Vees 15th consecutive season as a member of the final eight in the C.I.A.U. This time, however, the Lady Vees have the advantage of playing at home.

It will become an even greater advantage if YOU, the Laurentian student body, (and dammit, I mean all of YOU) come out to the Ben Avery gym and support our women's team.

Many senior students will remember the O.U.A.A. men's basketball playoffs in 1987 when we filled the Ben Avery to capacity to cheer on our team. For the first time in two years, I saw a display of something I didn't think existed here, SCHOOL SPIRIT. We now have the opportunity to show the rest of Canada, that yes, we are proud to be students of Laurentian. Will this happen? It's all up to YOU.

If you like basketball, you're in for plenty of action. And if you don't like basketball, but like making lots of noise, the Ben Avery will be the place to be.

The action for the Laurentian Lady Vees gets underway at 8 p.m. on Thursday, March 9 (tonight), as they will play their first game of the championships. The #7 ranked Lady Vees have their work cut out to win the national title, but with home court and a supportive home crowd, anything can happen. So before you leave for the game(s), don't forget your noise-makers (i.e. pots, pans, horns, hub caps, etc.) and a towel. Let's turn what has been for most of the year a quiet and peaceful gymnasium into a display of towel-waving, noise-making, unorganized mayhem. Sure, Thursday night is pub night, but the pub will still be there at 10 p.m. after the game.

Our women's team will be giving 100% on the court this weekend. Let's give them 100% from the stands. See YOU there this weekend.

LADY VEES HAVE THEIR WORK CUT OUT AT NATIONALS

by: Mike Hill

It wasn't the scenario that Lady Vees' Coach Peter Ennis wanted at the C.I.A.U. Women's National Basketball Championships this weekend at Laurentian University. In their opening game which will be played on Thursday, March 9 at 8 p.m. (tonight) the Lady Vees will meet the #1 ranked University of Calgary women's team. Without question, this will be Laurentian's toughest game this year.

In a very questionable turn of events, the Lady Vees were seeded eighth in the eight team championships. Last week's C.I.A.U. top ten rankings had Laurentian ranked #7, ahead of #8 U.P.E.I. and #9 Toronto. Both U.P.E.I. and Toronto, as well as previously unranked University of Laval, were all seeded above the host team. U of T beat Laurentian 73-60 in the O.W.I.A.A. playoffs, but the Lady Vees defeated Toronto TWICE in regular season league play. Why the other two women's teams are ranked higher is beyond me.

The Lady Vees will definitely have their work cut out for them, but a home court advantage and a supportive crowd could really become a big plus.

The C.I.A.U.'s kick off Thursday at 1 p.m., when #4 seeded Winnipeg will take on the U of T Lady Blues. At 3:15, the Regina Cougars will meet U.P.E.I., at a 5:30 start is scheduled for U of Victoria and Laval. The official opening ceremonies commence at 7:30 p.m., followed by the feature game, the Laurentian Lady Vees and the University of Calgary Lady Dinosaurs.

The action continues on Friday at 1 p.m. with the commencement of the consolation round, and semi-final games. Fifth and third place games will be played on Saturday morning, with the concluding championship game to start at 2 p.m.

Tickets are 6 for adults, $4 for students, and $2 for seniors (day pass). Students can purchase a tournament pass for only $10. Don't forget the Laurentian/Calgary opening round game, tonight at 8 p.m. Come out and support the Laurentian Lady Vees.

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

By: E.A.V.

The C.I.A.U.'s are nothing new to the Lady Vees. In fact, it has come to be expected here at Laurentian University. This weekend sees the Lady Vees competing in their 15th consecutive C.I.A.U. championship.

A tradition of producing outstanding teams and outstanding athletes began in 1974/75 when Norm Vickery coached the Lady Vees to the first of 5 consecutive C.I.A.U. championships. Present coach Peter Ennis is his tenth year at the helm has enjoyed much success also with 10 successive C.I.A. tourneys, as well as OWIAA championships in 1981 and 1987. This success has not been overlooked as his receiving OWIAA coach of the year honours in 1984 and 1985 as well as CIAU coach of the year honours in 1987.

Of course, none of this success could have been achieved without the outstanding core of female athletes choosing to showcase their skills here at Laurentian. Since 1978, the Lady Vees have placed 7 different players on the All-Canadian squad as well as 5 on Canada's national team. The Lady Vees have also been well represented on the OWIAA all-star teams, placing a player on the 1st team every year in the last 10. Eleven Laurentian girls have been placed on the 1st team, with some on numerous occasions. Nine different Vees have also received 2nd team honours.

This year saw no break in the tradition with the Lady Vees enjoying another successful season with an overall record of 25-7 and impressive 11-1 record in regular season play. The excellent play of 3 girls was not overlooked with Chantal St. Martin, Shirlene McLean and Kelly Edwards being named to OWIAA all-star teams this year.

With a strong core of veterans and the inspired play of some newcomers, hopefully the momentum of an impressive regular season will propel the Lady Vees back to the tradition of C.I.A.U. champions.

MEECH LAKE ACCORD

Last Monday I had great joy attending, well at least, observing the first Minister's meeting, on the Meech Lake accord. From the front steps of Parliament, my journey to Ottawa began with Professor Tony Hall from the Native Studies Department and two other students from L.U. We drove down in Dr. Hall's car and on the way we listened to a radio program "Cross Country", a CBC program that is aired Sunday at 5 p.m. Fortunately, this show was dedicated to the discussion of Meech Lake, where various views from across Canada (except Quebec) were aired, and this fueled discussion among us headed to Ottawa to take part in the making of history. I was quite angered that the CBC didn't air more voices from Quebec, which would have benefited our discussion on Meech Lake Accord, simply because one of Meech Lake's purpose(s) is to bring Quebec into confederation. I don't use the word confederation wrongly, for you intellectuals who are reading. From our debate during the Cross Country radio show, and what I witnessed in Ottawa, I came up with Meech Lake's main purpose. It is not to make English Canadians bilingual in any means. The media surely thought so in the way they presented the protests on the front steps of Parliament, Monday, the 27th of February. I am sure Mr. Mulroney found this amusing and even comforting, simply because Quebec viewers will only see (through) the media how the English in Ontario hate the French language. Mr. Mulroney's argument to the French in Quebec is quite the same, but he says through Meech Lake, the Francophones will be protected. So Mr. Mulroney's argument is based upon language conflict between French and English. However, people this is not the main purpose of Meech Lake, like former Prime Minister Trudeau put it, "Quebec would have special status and more 'power' at the expense of a decentralized Federal government". The language isn't the argument, it is the power that Quebec would receive, but not only Quebec. The other provinces would also receive more power, whether it be nominating Supreme Court judges or the special "veto" power over constitutional change. With future amendments to our constitution, provinces like Manitoba or New Brunswick could "veto" the other 8 provinces' decisions. So the environment today, foreshadows future constitutional reform. A weak province like P.E.I. could stop constitutional reform that 9 other provinces agree to.

Also, when nominating the Supreme Court judges, Quebec is given 3 out of the 9 nominations that will be appointed by the Government of the day. This leaves Ontario with 3 nominees also, and 3 left for the remaining provinces of Canada. Does it seem disproportionate that 8 provinces should only have 3 nominations to the Supreme Court, but yet get a proportionate veto?

Bill, Socrates and Ted

FILM REVIEW
 "BILL AND TED'S EXCELLENT ADVENTURE"
 starring ALEX WINTER, KEANU REEVES, and
 GEORGE CARLIN
 From ORION PICTURES

It's amazing what boredom makes you do. I was bored enough to see this movie. The screenwriters were bored enough to pen this movie. The producers were bored enough to produce this movie. I'm just happy that I didn't have to pay to see this movie (one of the perks of this job). That's about all that made me happy about this movie.

Bill and Ted are idiotic. I don't mean that nastily. It's just that truth. They're nice idiots though, so you don't want anything harmful to happen to them. That's the premise of this movie. If they don't come up with a whiz-bang of a history presentation, they'll fail their senior high school year. Then it's off to military school in Alaska for Ted (his Dad's psychotic). Lord knows what will happen to Bill, or the "Wyld Stallyns" their rock group (if you can call it that).

This is actually important to the movie. The "Wyld Stallyns" have become the historical patron saints of some futuristic society, and their music and lyrics have become part of this society's creed. So if the "Wyld Stallyns" become defunct, so will this society. Get it? (It's not too complete to grasp, I know).

Enter Rufus (George Carlin), Bill and Ted's "fairy godfather", who gives them an inter-galactic, time-travelling phone booth, complete with radioactive T.V. antenna. This propels them all through time, where they kidnap the likes of Billy the Kid, Socrates, Genghis Kahn, Napoleon, Beethoven, Joan of Arc (played by Jane Weidlin, the ex-"GO-GO"), Freud, and Abraham Lincoln. Then it's back to school and present first-hand historical impressions of San Dimas, California (Bill and Ted's hometown). They get their A+, pass the year, and 2 princesses (yup, princesses from medieval England), and everything is hunky-dory. Sounds great, eh?

Wrong! This movie is dull. Bill and Ted ham it up so much their names should be J.M. Schneider and Oscar Mayer. The writing doesn't help any. Even George Carlin's part is strained, thanks again to the writing. I just hope that these two guys don't accurately represent Californian youth (I doubt it, at least not all of them). Keanu Reeves (who plays Ted) actually spent some time living in Toronto during his high school year (OUCH! that hurts). I guess he figured he'd fit in better on the "Coast".

The only positive thing to come out of this movie (other than a few snickers and giggles) is the overlying principle of "being excellent to each other". This brings us back to the fact that Bill and Ted are infectiously nice. They continuously strive to be as pleasant and helpful as they can. Ted's shorts even have a patch on them that says "SAVE THE HUMANS". And other than a small bar brawl, there is a distinct lack of violence (or anything gratuitous) in this movie. That's nice too.

The best thing that can be said about "Bill and Ted's Excellent Adventure" is that it's nice. And so are they. Dull, but nice.

RATING: $2.50/$6.00

ED.NOTE: I hope this movie doesn't breed a whole generation of people that talk like these two guys, "ya know".

By the way, they do manage to handle the intricacies of time travel rather intelligently. Who would've guessed?

No briefs this week. The washing machine is busted.

NEWS:

There are two referendums coming up on campus and if you're an S.G.A. student, they affect you.

The first, concerning CFLR, the campus cable radio station, deals with an increase of $6.00 per student from the funds they receive from the S.G.A. This money will be used to help fund the growth of the station's facilities in order to enhance their application for a full FM broadcasting licence from the CRTC. If they are granted the licence, access to the station will be available to everyone with an FM receiver in the Laurentian/Sudbury area.

The other referendum, being held by the S.G.A. itself, is being placed on the ballots of the upcoming GENERAL ELECTION on March 21, 22, 23 and concerns itself with the continued yearly allocation of $20.00 per student for the new student centre.

So if your financial, academic, political, and social interests on campus mean ANYTHING to you, be sure and vote on either March 21, 22, or 23rd, during the S.G.A. GENERAL ELECTIONS. And keep an eye open for the CFLR referendum vote as well.

CONCERT REVIEW:
CHEAP TRICK & EDDIE MONEY February 14, 1989
by G. Andrew Kechnie

CHEAP TRICK

This St. Valentine's Day concert was a massacre not in a Caponian vein, but of musical structures. It seemed that the audience would have been more moved by a Mozart requiem since the reaction to the material presented was rather sublime. At twenty bucks a shot, it was hard to understand why two and a half thousand showed up; maybe it was just a place for the throngs of teenagers to keep warm on an undefiably cold Tuesday night.

It wasn't hard to identify that Eddie Money was given the best reception of the night, as he stirred the crowd (in front of the stage) with his hand bag of hits. With Money, what you get is Eddie Money, no frills attached, serving up a poorly honed sound of unconservative rock. He played a bit of undramatic saxophone which added life to a somewhat American cacaphony.

Then the main act Cheap Trick entered stage left. I heard they were good live at one time but since their supergroup recording days (Heaven Tonight, Live at Budokan) they have relied on very sparse material and have kept afloat by doing 1950's cover material.

After enduring the first couple of songs, the band sent me into deep R.E.M. with "Dream Police", coupling this with a flashback. Oh yes, the 45 underneath the Christmas tree of 1979, but whose destiny met an end melted on top of an amplifier. My, how far some of us have come. Here again, though, nobody knew the track, as one could perceive.

Later on, Cheap Trick moved into their white honkey version of the Fats Domino classic "Ain't that a Shame". And then disappointingly only a few whipped out their lighters for their 1988 hit "The Flame".

Strangely, the song the group received the best reception for was their Presley "Don't Be Cruel" copy (and one action packed video, I must contend). It seemed the band and the crowd simultaneously bottomed out after this peak. When the band finally said goodnight, I thought the audience was just waiting around for the bus and to hold them over until that event, the group came back, did a two song encore, and then told everybody they could go now.

Who do you feel sorry for the most in this instance? I'll have to side with the patrons of the venue who spent hard cash money to see a rock'n'roll relic that won't even be a footnote in the rock genre 5 years from now.

As for Cheap Trick itself, with the swearing, spitting, and throwing of guitar picks of guitarist Rick Nielsen, and his vastly inept material performed, where's the pride? The same can be said of Trooper who visits the Rock House on Regent Street on February 28, 29th. When will these bands ever give up (and go back to highschool).

Possibly pregnant and it isn't in your plans? Pregnant and you really need help? Pregnancy terminated and you have regrets? Worried and you don't know where to turn? BIRTHRIGHT REALLY CARES. 673-7200.

In the OUAA, Rick Dagenais broke his own personal best of 9:17 sec-onds to set the new Laurentian time of 9:04 seconds in the 60 m hurdles. Rick placed 7th while his team mate, Jean Claude Lampanda, came 6th in the 60 m sprint, also posting a new L.U. record and personal best of 7:09 seconds. In the OWIAA, Linda Verner placed 6th in the 600 m event with a time of 1:37 min-utes. Congratulations to all members of the Track and Field team for a successful year.

Men's Basketball B-BALL PLAYOFFS END ABRUPTLY FOR VEES

By Mike Hill
Lambda Sportswriter

TORONTO - After posting a very respectable 10-8 regular season record, the Laurentian Voyageurs Basketball team was upset in the O.U.A.A. Central Division playoffs, losing 85-80 to the Queen's University Golden Gaels.

"We basically beat ourselves", said Laurentian Coach, Peter Campbell, who saw his team up 77-73, with less than 2 1/2 minutes to play. However, the Vees trailed for most of the game, and at one point, were down by 13, late in the first half.

Laurentian was one of four teams who competed in the Central Division playoffs which was held at the University of Toronto Sports Centre. The second place Voyageur squad took on the third place (7-11) Golden Gaels in Friday's (Feb. 25) semi-final game.

Both teams established their inside game in the early stages, and were tied 12-12, seven minutes into the opening half. The Golden Gaels, led by 6'6" forward Mike Scotten, went on an 8-0 run, and got the Vees into early trouble. A Laurentian bench technical and an ensuing three pointer gave Queen's a comfortable 27-14 lead, midway through the half. The Voyageurs were badly out-rebounded in the first twenty minutes but managed to chip away at the lead. Lloyd Pollard, Norm Hann, and Rod Gilpin each hit a three-pointer, while Rob Gillespie showed some hustle late in the half. Gillespie forced a turnover, and cashed in on a three point play, scoring on a lay-up and an ensuing foul shot. However, the Vees were still behind at halftime, down 46-39. Mike Scotten of Queen's had 18 points in the half, while Laurentian's Lloyd Pollard scored 11 points. Pollard would go on to have a sensational second half.

The Voyageurs were unstoppable in the first three minutes of the second period and grabbed a 53-52 lead. Once again, Rob Gillespie sparked the team both offensively and defensively, while Lloyd Pollard bombed a pair of threes. After a Queen's timeout, the Golden Gaels pulled ahead by out-rebounding their opponents, and springing open a guard to hit many uncontested three-point shots. With ten minutes to go, the Vees were behind 67-61. Lloyd Pollard became a one-man wrecking crew for the next 7 minutes, and scored 10 points to give his team their biggest lead

Mike Scotten of Queen's tied up the score a minute later, and put his team ahead to stay 83-77, with 44 seconds remaining. Meanwhile, the Voyageurs missed some critical foul shots, and turned the ball over. Rookie guard, Norm Hann, gunned a three with 30 seconds to go, but it was too little, too late, as the Golden Gaels defeated Laurentian, 85-80.

In his final game of his O.U.A.A. basketball career, veteran guard Lloyd Pollard scored a game high 32 points, which included five 3 pointers. Lloyd played a very intense game (like every other game he plays), which definitely rubbed off on his teammates. It's beyond me why Pollard was not named to the O.U.A.A. Central Division All-Star team. At the other end of the court, Queen's forward, Mike Scotten led his team with 28 points. "We didn't keep him off the boards in the first half, and that's what we set out to do," said Vees coach Peter Campbell.

Other Laurentian scorers in the game were: Rob Gillespie with 12 points, and John Campbell and Mike Albert with 8 points apiece.

In the other semi-final game on Friday, the #3 ranked University of Toronto Blues easily defeated the 4th place York Yeomen, 86-66. The Blues held a commanding 25-4 lead, midway through the opening half. Toronto's Mark Harvey led his team with 21 points and 22 rebounds in the victory.

On Saturday night, the O.U.A.A. Central Division final featured U. of T. and the Queen's Golden Gaels. In their two regular season games, the Blues defeated the Golden Gaels by sizeable margins, but it wasn't the same story tonight. Queen's gave U. of T. all that they could handle but came up on the short end of an 83-81 final score. The victory means Toronto will become one of the eight teams to compete in C.I.A.U. basketball championships, which will be held in Halifax, Nova Scotia on March 10-17.

Stay tuned in next couple of weeks, as I will present a wrap-up of 1988-89 Voyageur basketball season.

WALLINGFORD
SWIMS TO 2ND PLACE FINISH
BY E.A.V.

In a meet dominated by University of Calgary, Laurentian's lone entrant, Darcy Wallingford managed to swim to a satisfying 2nd place finish in the 100 m breaststroke last weekend in the CIAU championships held in Vancouver. Wallingford who earlier this year set the OUAA record in the 100 m breaststroke with a time of 1:03.2 came close posting a time of 1:03.45. Toronto's Marco Cavazzoni won the event in a time of 1:02.74.

The University of Calgary men's team dominated placing 1st overall in last weekend's meet. The Dinosaurs Tom Ponting, named the meet's outstanding male swimmer, set world short course record in the 100 m butterfly in a time of 52.62 eclipsing the mark held by West Germany's Michael Gross. Ponting then went on to set a Canadian record in the 200 meter butterfly with a time of 1:55.82. He then went on to win the 200 m individual medley and combine with fellow Olympian, Mark Tewksbury, Randy Feddersen and Steven Vandermullen to set a CIAU record in the men's 400 meter medley relay.

The University of Toronto placed first on the women's side with Alberta's Kathie Duggan being named outstanding female swimmer. Kathie set a CIAU record in the 100 m breaststroke posting a time of 1:08.54. Sophie Plante of the University of Montreal also set a new CIAU record posting a time of 1:04.03 in the 100 m backstroke.

INDOOR HOCKEY

The OWIAA Indoor Field Hockey Championships took place at U of T this weekend. There were 8 teams represented in the tournament, Laurentian, U of T, York, Guelph, Western, Trent, Waterloo and Queen's.

For people like myself who think indoor field hockey was played in a rink, well it's not. It is played in a gym and rules are adjusted to fit the smaller enclosure.

On Saturday, L.U. played three games. In the opener, U of T walloped the Lady Vees 8 to 0. Laurentian played Trent later on in the day and blanked Trent 3-0. Angie Kilgor, Leanne Bouffard and Jo-Anne Whither scored for L.U. Saturday ended on a losing note as Western shut out L.U. 3-0.

On Sunday, Laurentian defeated Queen's 5-3. Monica Daley and Nathalie Dindill each scored a pair for Laurentian and Leanne Bouffard added a single. In their last game Waterloo beat L.U. 4-1. Monica Daley scored the lone goal for L.U.

Laurentian finished the tournament in sixth place. This now ends both the outdoor and indoor field hockey seasons and Lambda would like to congratulate the women on their fine performance.

The final standings are as follows:

Semi-finals - Toronto 13 - Guelph 1
York 6 - Western 1

MEN'S CURLING TEAM WINS PROVINCIAL TITLE

The Laurentian's men's curling team consisting of Stephen Smith, Mike Richter, dean McLenaghan, Phil Loevenmark and Scott Patterson started their successful season at the Eastern Sectional Playdown in Kingston on January 14th and 15th. The team posted a 4 win, 1 loss record defeating Brock, Queens, RMC and York with the lone loss to U of T.

The team then travelled to Toronto for the East-West Cross-Sectional Playdowns on February 3rd and 4th. The Laurentian team qualified for the Ontario final by defeating Western, McMaster and Windsor, while losing to Wilfred Laurier and Waterloo. A sixth game against Guelph was not necessary as both teams had already qualified for the Ontario final. Laurentian being ranked fourth in the province. The other teams that qualified were Guelph, U of T, Waterloo, Brock, and Queens.

The OUAA finals were held in Kitchener-Waterloo at the Westmount Golf and Country Club on February 18th and 19th. After the first two rounds, Laurentian and Waterloo were the only undefeated teams. (Laurentian had defeated Queens and U of T earlier). In the 3rd round these two undefeated teams faced each other in a crucial game. Laurentian prevailed with a 6-5 extra-end victory leaving the L.U. fellas atop the standing after three rounds. The fourth game against the number one ranked University of Guelph was a nailbiter as it went into two extra ends. Laurentian defeated Guelph 7-6. In the final round Laurentian defeated Brock to improve their record to 5-0 after the five game round robin competition. This gave Laurentian the 1988-89 OUAA Curling Championship.

We can expect good things from this team in the future because this is a young team. Phil Loevenmark and Scott Patterson of Pembroke are first year students. While Mike Richter of Kincardine, Dean McLenaghan of Perth and Stephen Smith of Midland are second year students. All of the players are coming back so we can expect a strong showing in the future.

The team would like to thank Bill Groom for his coaching expertise, Lynn Malpass for time and effort, and to Laurentian University for their excellent support.
